DEADLINE NEAR FOR DEFERMENT APPLICATIONS

College students have only three more days to submit their applications for draft deferment on the basis of their class standing. Local Selective Service Board No. 1 said today. All class-standing applications must be returned to the students' colleges by July 1. The colleges will then return them to the students' local draft boards by August 25.

The class standing is one of two methods students may use to seek a year's deferment. Those who passed the special deferment tests given at Gettysburg college and at other colleges May 26 need not submit the class-standing blank, the draft board said. Deferment is up to the local boards. The board here said it had received the standings of 39 who took the tests thus far. A majority of them passed, the board said.

Must Be Upper Half

Students may secure copies of the class-standing applications at the local draft board. They are to fill out the first six questions (name, date of birth, draft number, mailing address, draft board number and name of college) and return it to their college.

The college will then fill in the student's class standing as of May 25 and that he has been accepted for the next term. Draft boards are authorized to defer any student in the upper half of his class and eligible for the next term. Graduating seniors may be deferred if they have been accepted for advance study.

The board said that all college deferments are for only one year. A new application must be filed for each year the student wishes deferred.

REYNOLDS GETS 3RD SHUTOUT; RACE TIGHTENS

By JOE REICHLER

(Associated Press Sports Writer)

The hottest hurler in the majors today is Allie (Wahoo) Reynolds, the part-Indian righthander from Bethany, Okla., who toils for the New York Yankees. Last night he racked up his third straight shutout as the Yanks whipped the Washington Senators, 2-0, on five hits.

The victory plus Detroit's 3-2 win over Chicago enabled the Yankees to climb to within one game of the American league-leading White Sox. The third-place Boston Red Sox also closed in on the leaders with a 6-5 victory over Philadelphia's Athletics and are now three games off the pace.

Brooklyn's National league-leading Dodgers crushed the New York Giants, 10-4, to widen their margin to six games over their interborough rivals. The St. Louis Cardinals walloped the Chicago Cubs, 14-2 and Cincinnati edged out Pittsburgh 2-1.

Cleveland shellacked the St. Louis Browns 8-1. Boston's Braves and the Philadelphia Phils were rained out.

Eighth Triumph

Reynolds, in registering his eighth win against four defeats, hasn't allowed a run in his last 28 2/3 innings nor a base on balls in 34 2/3 innings.

Allie is shooting for three new marks—most successive shutout games, most successive shutout innings and most consecutive innings without a base on balls—but he has a long way to go to reach any of them.

G. Harris (Doc) White hurled five straight shutout games for the White Sox back in 1904. Walter Johnson pitched 56 consecutive innings for Washington without allowing a run in 1913. Christy Mathewson did not issue a base on balls through 68 consecutive innings for the Giants in 1913. White owns the American league mark of 65 1/3 innings. He accomplished the feat in 1907.

Some nifty relief pitching by Virgil Trucks paved the way for the Tigers' win over the White Sox.

Red Sox Close In

Triples by Dom DiMaggio and Billy Goodman and singles by Charlie Maxwell and Ted Williams combined for three Red Sox runs in the seventh which enabled them to come from behind and nip the A's, 6-5. Pitcher Ray Scarborough, who started for Boston, was struck in the back of the head by Carl Scheib's pickoff pitch in the third and was removed to a hospital for examination. X-rays were negative but he was advised to remain overnight.

Luke Easter banged in four runs with a homer and two singles to help the Indians hand the last-place Browns their eighth consecutive loss.

Don Newcombe coasted to his 10th victory as his Brooklyn mates used two innings—a four-run fourth and a six-run sixth—to down the Giants. Andy Pafko blasted his 16th homer with two on in the fourth and Duke Snider slammed his 15th in the sixth, also with two mates aboard.

Willie Ramsdell of Cincinnati won a hurling duel from young Bob Friend of Pittsburgh. Ramsdell was one strike away from a shutout when Bill Howerton wallop a home run for the Buccaneers in the ninth.

LaMOTTA LOSES ON MURPHY TKO

New York, June 28 (AP)—Irish Bobby Murphy, the fighting ex-sailor with the golden touch in his leather mitts, was almost in sight of his goal today—a shot at the light heavyweight title—following his smashing seven round technical knockout of Jake La Motta.

The smiling, red-haired slugger, boxing's latest boxoffice sensation and the pugilistic hit of television, set the stage for a crack at champion Joey Maxim by battering and slicing the Bronx Bull's swarthy features before 21,257 roaring fans at Yankee Stadium last night. The gross gate was $116,990.

In addition some 28,650 spectators witnessed the theater-cast in 11 theaters in eight cities. Murphy became the darling of the TV viewers with his slambang fights but last night's furious brawl was seen only by Yankee Stadium fans and cash customers in the 11 theaters. There was no TV or radio.

Today Irish Bobby and co-managers Irving Cohen and Travis Hatfield will sit down with Jack Kearns, Maxim's manager, and Jim Norris, president of the International Boxing club, to discuss a date for a Murphy-Maxim title scrap in New York. Kearns wants Murphy because "he's the guy who will pack them in."

MIDGET AUTO RACES At Williams Grove

Williams Grove, Pa., June 28—Two stars of auto racing who put on one of the first battles ever seen on the Williams Grove Speedway have turned in entries for Sunday's national championship midget auto races, slated for Roy Richwine's oval, as the second in the series of the contest for nation-wide honors.

The are Paul Russo, of Hammond, Ind., a star of the Indianapolis classic, and Neal Carter, of Toledo, Ohio, top-ranking midget chauffeur in the mid-west.

The "White Sox" and "Yankees" won the opening games of Eddie Plank Memorial Midget Baseball league staged Wednesday evening on the softball field at the Recreation park.

Despite an earlier afternoon shower and the threat of additional showers, a good-sized crowd watched the games. Many spectators expressed enthusiasm over the new league and its potentiality of moulding future baseball stars.

In the opening game of the evening the White Sox mauled the Phillips in a free-hitting and scoring game, 15-11. The winners tallied five times in the first frame and added nine in the second to clinch the decision.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

TO BE RICH WHILE POOR

We are constantly being faced with changes and new emergencies. Resourceful people take on the most happiness, and with greater courage, than those who wait for things to settle themselves—which they rarely do!

The comforts about which we know nothing are not missed. Thoreau made a wise statement when he said: "A man is rich in proportion to the number of things he can do without." I have often happily envied the richness of many a one who had less materially than I. What a rich man this Thoreau was! His income was next to nothing, but he had no complaint. He kept banking ideas, and now the world has them in a dozen or more volumes that are continually adding wealth and richness to the lives of countless numbers.

We are bidders for happiness, and if we bid high enough we can get exactly the grade of happiness we desire, though perhaps not always the kind we deserve. We have to be patient though and scale our lives to their capacity.

Monetary wealth is of no use or good so long as it remains stagnant. People who have contributed most to the happiness of the world have not been rich people in a material way, but rich in character, clinging only to those things and values that enriched the mind, the heart and the spirit. So, you see, you can be very rich while apparently poor.

Far more profitable is the discovery of a friend than to have suddenly come into a rich material inheritance. The friend will last longer and be of greater comfort. This has been proved time and again. A friend can cheer and uplift you in spirit while you live, and hold your hand when the last lap of earth draws nigh.

Great material riches have often proved a handicap to happiness. I believe it was Dr. Johnson who made the remark that it was better to live rich than to die rich. Richness of mind and character are things that cannot be price-tagged.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "The Best Never Too Good!"

Pointed to the north and south, East and west, then gently spoke:

"Welcome, Pale Face! Now you smoke."

Smiled the princesses and squaws

Of the noble Ottawas As the ceremonial brief

Made me honorable Chief.

All have Indian names to sign:

"A-So-Ke-Nine" is mine.

If, by Indians, pride's allowed, A-So-Ke-Nine is proud.

Proud to have his children see

Proud to hear them greet him:

ARCHBISHOP OF HUNGARY GETS 15 YEAR TERM

Budapest, Hungary, June 28 (AP)—

Archbishop Josef Groesz was sentenced today to 15 years in prison on charges of plotting to overthrow Hungary's Communist government with American help. One of his eight co-defendants was sentenced to death.

Archbishop Groesz succeeded Cardinal Mindszenty as leader of the Roman Catholic church in Hungary after the cardinal was given a life sentence on treason charges in 1949.

In handing down the sentences today, the court said the prosecution had provided that the group maintained "close relations with the United States legation" in Budapest. All had pleaded guilty to the charges.

Asked Severe Penalty

The prosecutor, Gyula Alapi, who had asked for the "severest punishment," objected to the lightness of the sentences. But Judge Vilmos Olti, who handed down the sentences, said the sincerity of their confessions and the fact they had not been convicted of any previous crime were alleviating circumstances.

Alapi was the man who prosecuted Cardinal Mindszenty, and American businessman Robert A. Vogeler, who got a 15-year sentence on espionage charges. Olti was the judge in those cases too.

The U.S. State department had described the trial as persecution in the familiar Communist pattern, aimed at suppressing "all human rights and liberties in Hungary" and at destroying church influence there. Vogeler, recently released from his imprisonment, has said prolonged questioning was used to break him down for a confession. He now terms this confession "rubish."

Jerenc Veger, a Paulican monk, was sentenced to death on charges he organized a group of peasants who killed 30 Russian soldiers. After he heard his sentence, he appealed for clemency.

Archbishop Groesz stood quietly at attention with his fellow defendants and their lawyers as the sentences were read out. Two of the accused were not sentenced because they are to appear in other trials on additional charges.

The five others sentenced were:

Dr. Pal Boszik, a Catholic priest who was a member of the prewar Parliament; 10 years.

Dr. Endre Farkas, a lawyer; eight years.

Vendel Endredy, Cistercian abbot of Cirtz; 14 years.

Gyula Haygos Kovacs, a member of the prewar Upper House (Senate); 13 years.

Istvan Csernar, general of the Paulican order; 10 years.

The judge said the case of another defendant, Laszlo Hevey, had to be held over because further clarification is necessary in his alleged role in organizing armed terrorist groups. He will be tried again with other persons charged specially with participation in these groups.

Split Decision To Raise Phone Rates

The Public Utility commission Wednesday authorized the United Telephone company of Pennsylvania to increase its rates $396,000 annually, effective June 30, in fourteen central Pennsylvania counties, the Associated Press reported.

The company, with headquarters in Harrisburg, serves 46,505 subscribers in Bedford, Blair, Huntingdon, Fulton, Franklin, Cumberland, Adams, Perry, Juniata, Mifflin, Centre, Clinton, Somerset and York counties.

Commissioner John B. Conly voted against permitting the increased rates to go into effect. The majority ruled a study of the utility's expenses and revenue showed the increased rates would not yield an excessive return.

The company said the new rates are needed to meet higher operating costs. The utility, in presenting its case to the PUC, said the present rates were established 20 or 30 years ago by 14 predecessor companies and showed a wide variance for same service in different areas.

Others Are Named

The grand jury, which lacks the power to indict, recommended that a regular Allegheny county grand jury return true bills for:

Lawrence, Edward F. Frey, city controller; Alexander R. Brunwasser, city utilities consultant; Leo I. Shapiro, assistant city solicitor; James S. Devlin, director of public works; William Driscoll, director of supplies; Morris L. Wolf, chief of the mechanical division and Jesse Cohen, Sidney Lipkins and Joseph G. Lipkins, all officials of the New York firm.

The jury recommended the ordinance yesterday after a two-month investigation of a city contract with Broadway Maintenance company of New York to install more than $1,000,000 worth of street lights.

And never before in history has a soldier so richly deserved this definition. . . ."

Fear Education

It is the belief of the Amish that education past the eighth grade is a threat to their faith by teaching them "the ways of the world."

Price, who introduced his bill at the request of Amishmen in 10 counties, said transfer of withdrawal authority from the state to local schools will make it easier for the Amish to remove their children from school since he said local schools are more sympathetic with their problem.

Under state law, a child may quit school at the age of 14 to enter farm or domestic employments providing he obtains permission from local and state school authorities and has completed eighth grade.

The law also allows children who are 15 years of age but still in elementary grades to quit school to enter farm or domestic service, providing the child obtains approval from local and state school officials.

LittlestownSOOT NUISANCE,
ALLEY PARKING ARE DISCUSSED

Parking problems were discussed at the regular monthly meeting of the Borough Council Tuesday evening in the office of the borough secretary, Roger J. Keefer, North Queen street. The meeting was called to order by Councilman Roscoe W. Rittace, and was later presided over by the president, John N. Sell.

The streets and alleys in which vehicles have been parking are the first block of Charles street off South Queen street, the north side of East King street where official signs are erected restricting parking for business only and the first alley east of North and South Queen streets.

On Charles street parking is permitted on the south side in the first block, but trucks have been stopping on the north side to deliver goods and obstructing traffic. Burgess Herbert J. Motter was authorized to have the curbs painted on the south side.

As to the parking on the north side of East King street where signs designate "parking for public business only," reference was specifically made to the ordinance which designated that the public business meant "business within the nearby post office only." In case there is any parking within this area for any other business, Chief of Police Albert H. Miller, Jr., was instructed to enforce the ordinance.

May Make One-Way

Traffic conditions in the first alleys east of North and South Queen streets between Locust and Lumber streets were left to the Safety committee to endeavor to work out a better arrangement, with the thought of possibly designating one-way traffic. The committee was requested to report at the next meeting of council.

A petition containing 62 names was presented asking abatement of soot and smoke coming allegedly from the smoke stack of the Carroll Shoe company. The petition stated that clean clothes could not be placed upon wash lines and soot entered homes in the vicinity. The matter was referred to Borough Solicitor Daniel J. Teeter.

Chief of Police Miller asked whether council desired him to patrol as he has been doing, and if so, he asked the borough to pay two-thirds of his gasoline costs in Stock, 33 North Queen street, to construct a two-story frame addition to rear dwelling; Florence Biehl, 124 West King street, to repair front porch.

The June borough fund account showed a total of $2,029.96; water fund account, $1,275.47; total sanitary sewer fund, $430.20; total highway aid fund, $934.12; grand total expenditures of all accounts, $4,668.75. Treasurer Flickinger reported the following balances of the various funds as of May 31: highway aid fund, $2,892.58; parking meter fund, $5,562.81; sanitary sewer fund, $16,490.90; water fund, $8,569.50; and general borough fund, $5,234.84.

Seek County Aid

An application for county aid for resurfacing West Myrtle street from North Queen street to Patrick avenue; Patrick avenue to Cemetery street, Locust to "M" street and "M" street to the Pennsylvania railroad was presented to council. It was decided to have the proper officers execute the application and return it to the county commissioners for approval.

Costly Lesson

A claim for damage to a fire hydrant at the southeast corner of Crouse Park by the borough council against Rufus Bond Baker in the amount of $180.84 resulted in a release from the Car and General Insurance corporation, through its Baltimore office.

YEAR IN KOREA SHOWS SEVERAL SALIENT FACTS

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, June 28 (AP) — The Korean war, which started a year ago and caught us flat-footedly unprepared, has had four main results:

1. This country won't soon again be caught quite so helplessly flat-footed for we have begun to arm and prepare in a big way.

2. By going into Korea, which showed our willingness to fight to stop communism, this country undoubtedly upset the Communists' timetable of conquest in Asia and elsewhere.

3. The Western Allies have been welded closer by the realization that communism, unless stopped, would chew up the unprepared part of the world. It spurred them all into rearming.

4. This country revealed itself to the world as badly split and confused on how to stop communism and what to do next.

Korea was a test. If we had stood by idly there, it would have highlighted communism to gobble up the rest of Asia and move perhaps in the Middle East and Europe.

"Kidding" Ourselves

We had developed the kind of Maginot Line thinking which had led to disaster for the French. Our Maginot was the ton bomb. We had developed an almost childlike and mystical belief in it as the perfect defense.

The Korean outbreak quickly showed us how pitifully unprepared we were to fight a real war, even against North Koreans who lacked planes and atom bombs.

At the time of the Korean outbreak, the Western Allies were linked together in the Atlantic Pact which was hardly more than a noble promise: a promise to go to one another's help if any member nation was attacked.

Actually, it was a paper promise. Korea showed these allies they were in pretty sad shape to defend anyone, including themselves. Now they've all started to rearm and turn their paper alliance into a military one.

Because it takes a lot of time to set up the machinery for turning out arms, this country and its allies are far from fully equipped. In a few months, though, the weapons should start moving from the factories.

Costly Lesson

History may show Russia lost the long cold war with the west by choosing to make a minor test in Korea—which has given the Allies 12 months to get ready—instead of sweeping across Europe while it still was pitifully unready.

But this country has not gone through the Korean experience without great pain: the loss of American lives and one of the most searing spiritual convulsions in the nation's history.

In the Russian purge of the mid-1930's the old Bolsheviks started the world by getting up in open court, searching their souls, castigating themselves, revealing their thoughts.

In the past year, openly before the world and undoubtedly to the benefit of the Russians, we have exposed our thinking in the disputes over what we should do and what we did wrong. It has been a purge of the American spirit.

Even while we were fighting in and was turned over to the Finance committee for study and submission at the next meeting.

Those present on Tuesday evening were President Bill, Walter I. DeGroot, Lewis H. Fox, Roscoe W. Rittace and Vernon C. Reaver. Also in attendance were Burgess Motter, Chief of Police Miller, Treasurer Flickinger and Secretary Keefer. The next meeting will be held Tuesday evening, July 24, at 7:30 o'clock in the office of the secretary.

Korea we went through months of self-analysis, not unmixed with politics, to decide whether we should really stand beside our European allies by sending them troops, instead of arms only.

Troops For Europe

That was the famous troops-for Europe debate, started by former President Hoover who tried to persuade the country that we should make the U.S. a Gibraltar, using the oceans as a Maginot, and keep our ground troops at home.

Then, after a debate that showed a wide split in American thinking on this, the Senate approved the decision to send troops, although with qualifications. Almost at once, without batting an eye or apparently feeling any inconsistency, we plunged into the other extreme in our zeal for self-examination. This was after the firing of General MacArthur.

He won a lot of support by urging an even fiercer war in Asia on the Chinese, even if it meant getting into world war with Russia, which he thought it wouldn't. He represented himself as the man with the answer on how to finish the Korean fighting at a time when the Truman administration was still only hoping—it's still doing that—some answer could be found in Korea, short of world war.

Two Allentown crewmen were killed in the wreck on the Reading railroad near Valley Forge in 1948.

The court said the obvious reason for the extreme verdict in the first degree murder trial of James M. Johnson, 38-year-old farm worker of Pocomoke City, Md., was that the jury feared the defendant might later be pardoned.

It ruled the jury, serving in a Montgomery county court, had no authority to impose such a sentence because of that fear, and asserted the trial judge should have told the jurors it was not their business to consider whether the verdict would stick.

COURT ORDERS SCHOOL NURSE ALWAYS ON DUTY

Philadelphia, June 28 (P)—Asserting that a person with medical knowledge must always be available to schools, the Pennsylvania Supreme Court holds that state law requires that a nurse must be kept on the job by schools at all times.

The court, in one of 50 opinions handed down late yesterday, upheld action by Northumberland county common pleas court ordering Mount Carmel township school board to reinstate Anna Marnell as nurse.

The township board of school directors, which had suspended Miss Marnell, claiming a substantial decrease in enrollment, appealed the lower court order.

In an unanimous opinion written by Justice James B. Drew, the Supreme Court stated:

Full Time Job

"In our view, whether or not there was a substantial decrease in enrollment is immaterial. There is a much more compelling reason why the suspension cannot be allowed to stand."

Drew quoted from a section of the state school code which provides that any board of school directors shall employ one or more school nurses and shall define their duties.

The Mount Carmel township school board had argued it is not necessary to have full time nurse but it is sufficient if a nurse is available to assist medical and dental examiners as required by the school code.

In another unanimous opinion the high court held it would be an "absurdity" to permit the attorney general of the Commonwealth to hold a hearing to determine whether a person can be disqualified from office because of his political views.

Charles J. Margiotti, then attorney general, had appealed a decision by Allegheny county court.

Rules On Church

He had sought in the lower court to question Mrs. Marjorie Matson of Pittsburgh as to her fitness to be an assistant district attorney in Allegheny county because of what he termed her "leftist leanings." The court denied his request.

Mrs. Matson had resigned her post pending disposition of the litigation. Margiotti has since resigned as attorney general.

The Supreme Court opinion, written by Justice Horace Stern, stated Margiotti submitted "a proposition the very statement of which illustrates its inherent absurdity."

In another unanimous decision the Supreme Court ruled the congregation of SS. Cyril and Methodius church at Oliphant, Pa., has no permission to operate independent of the Pope in Rome.

NEW CONTROLS PROGRAM NOW FACES COLLAPSE

Washington, June 28 (P)—The entire economic controls program, under which the government aims to alter prices, wages and rents, appeared today in imminent danger of collapse, victim of an argument between House and Senate.

Unless the two chambers can square their views and pass a new law—or extend the old one—by Saturday night, the Defense Production Act which authorizes the controls will die.

The Senate today drove toward a vote by nightfall on a new measure which would sharply limit price control powers. But the House moved at a more leisurely pace as its leaders agreed to a simple 31-day "stop-gap" extension of the old measure to give them time to work out a long-term law.

Plane Filibuster

That was the cause of the divergence of views between the two chambers. Senator Maybank (D-S.C.) announced in the Senate last night that "several of us intend to talk and talk and talk" to kill any move for a stop-gap continuance.

Such talk might easily turn into a filibuster and thus end any chance of final Senate action before the present law expires. And even if the Senate should pass a new controls bill of its own, it still would be hamstrung by the House's stop-gap plan.

In the meantime, there would be no legal basis for any of the controls the government insists are essential for preventing inflation.

The House did not even consider the controls bill officially yesterday, as its Democratic and Republican leaders got together on the one-month extension plan.

The Senate, in a session that ran well into the night, rejected a move to knock out of its bill a drastic limitation on the government's authority to roll back the prices of meat and other items.

By a 61 to 26 rollcall vote, the senators adopted a provision forbidding price rollbacks to levels lower than those which prevailed between last January 25 and February 24. Twenty-five Democrats and 36 Republicans voted to retain the provision, sponsored by Maybank. Twenty-one Democrats and five Republicans opposed it.

"Pressure Groups" Are Scored By Duff

Philadelphia, June 28 (P)—Actions of pressure groups that seek gains solely for themselves have been attacked by Pennsylvania Senator James H. Duff.

"These groups seek gains for themselves without bothering to give any consideration to what the general public wants," he said. "One of the reasons such groups are able to continue to operate is the complexity of national government."

"It is so big that the average citizen cannot possibly have the time to become acquainted with its intricacies."

The Senator's statements were made before the 26th annual convention of the State Association of First Class Township Commissioners.

PLAN HEARINGS ON PRR MEASURE

Harrisburg, June 28 (AP)—A proposal by the Pennsylvania railroad to curtail passenger train service between Harrisburg and the New York state line will be held up pending hearings by the Public Utility Commission.

The commission said that hearings will be called soon in the case. The PRR originally had asked for the curtailment to go into effect on July 8.

The PRR is seeking to discontinue day service north of Harrisburg, affecting the Sunbury, Milton, Williamsport, Lock Haven, Renovo and Emporium stations.

The PUC said numerous complaints have been received from the northcentral area against the proposed curtailment.

The commission meanwhile took no action on other PRR train withdrawals, including passenger trains on the Harrisburg-Baltimore run. A spokesman said lack of action would permit those changes to go into effect on July 8, as the PRR once announced. He pointed out records showed the trains carry an average of 14 passengers on the Pennsylvania part of the run, the only one coming within PUC jurisdiction.

Bees Upset Work On New Distillery

Windsor, Ont., June 28 (AP)—The blithesome buzzing of bees slowed up construction work on a new plant of a distillery in suburban Walkerville.

The bees, about 20,000 of them, started a hive right above a syrup tank. Steam fitters, riggers, riveters and cement pourers froze dead in their tracks.

They wanted no truck with bees—particularly tipsy bees—when they were teetering on a steel beam four stories up. Work dragged for three days.

Finally, Clifford Hanes, a crane operator and one-time bee keeper, waited until late in the day when the roisterers had passed out, and scrapped them into a box.

He also obtained a half pound of honey. Said it tasted a lot like rye whiskey.

ELEVEN MONTHS OF BLOOM

Topics of lawn, garden and farm are generally discussed in this column on a timely basis. However, the editor has been hesitating and postponing the subject, "Eleven Months Of Bloom," for almost a year, always finding that it was partly untimely and at the same time continually appropriate. So here it is offered on a compromise date in May.

Is it possible to have shrubs and other ornamentals in bloom eleven months out of the year?

Yes, below are listed a general grouping and calendar distribution of shrubs, annuals, perennials and bulbous plants which attain this goal. The exact botanical name is included in most cases to distinguish among species. The month of bloom is somewhat elastic, as many start a little earlier and carry their flowering over into the following month.

May—Tulips, lilacs (Syringa vulgaris), primrose (Primula vulgaris), painted daisy (Chrysanthemum coccineum), and bearded iris.

June—Madonna lily (Lilium candidum), almost all roses, Sweet William (Dianthus barbatus), columbine, anenome and several annuals.

July—Regal lily (Lilium regale), St. Johnswort (Hypericum moserianum), Pinks (Dianthus latifolius), daylilies (Hemerocallis), and hollyhocks.

August—Henry lily (Lilium henryi), butterfly bush (Buddleia), violas, balloon flower (Platycodon grandiflorum), phlox and rose of Sharon.

September—Philippine lily (Lilium philippinense), glossy abelia (Abelia grandiflora), dwarf chrysanthemums, Michaelmas daisy (hydrastis asters), and gay feather (Liatris scariosa).

October—Autumn crocuses (Crocus speciosus, C. zonatus, and C. sativus), witch hazel (Hamamelis virginiana), and several chrysanthemums.

November—Late sorts of chrysanthemums and floribunda roses.

Occasionally floribunda roses continue over through all of December. Last year plantings of this rose in Washington, D. C., parks bore flowers until after the middle of January.

February—Forsythia (F. ovata), if grown in a sunny, sheltered nook, will usually put forth quite a display.

March—Crocuses, snowdrops (Gallanthus), Siberian squill (Scilla sibirica), forsythia, and occasionally a sheltered redbud.

April—Flowering cherry, flowering quince (Chaenomeles lagenaria), rock cress (Arabis alpina), daffodils, Virginia bluebell (Martensia virginica), and dogwoods.

Of course, for most of these months, particularly from April to September, there are dozens of other desirable ornamentals to add. For example, there are daylilies which bloom throughout the summer. Some roses remain in flower until October.

The editor invites all related questions readers wish to ask on these and other ornamentals to prolong the blooming season around the year.

close to that distinction. Here are a few among many "must" tasks which should receive careful attention this week:

Buy vigorously rooted pepper plants and set them out in a deeply mellow, well drained loam.

Add eggplant plants to the same category. Both of these fine vegetables require a long growing season, thereby requiring final transplanting around the middle of May.

Plant garden soybeans at once. There are several named varieties now ideally adapted for food purposes. They are excellent and nutritionally rich additions to vegetable crops.

Plant popcorn now. If planting is delayed, ears may not ripen fully before late summer and early fall rains come. To gain the advantages of warm, dry days in late August to mature the ears on the stalks, plant popcorn not later than mid-May.

Plant sorghum cane for pollasses. Here is an appetizing sweetener easy and economical to grow. It adds a desirable and low-cost energy-building food to the home store. No other food crop surpasses sorghum molasses as a source of iron. The seed heads make good feed for poultry and wild birds; the bagasse may be profitably utilized as a summer mulching material.

Gather and burn nests of tent caterpillar and webworms still attached to ornamental shrubs and shade and forest trees.

Sell all roosters from the poultry flock. If home produced eggs are not needed for hatching purposes, keep no males at all.

Lima beans, both bush and pole varieties, should be planted at once. Place the eyes down to hasten growth.

If cucumbers have not been planted earlier, at least a few hills should be grown with the idea of fencing the fields into three or four equal plots to permit rotation pasturing.

Salsify requires a long growing season. Of course, it is too late to start this excellent vegetable from seed, but if rooted plants can be bought, they should be set out at once.

Watermelons, cantaloupes, and pumpkins should be planted soon. If peony buds have not yet begun to open, apply Bordeaux mixture to prevent blight.

This is near the final date when sugar beet seed can be planted to grow beets for making sugar syrup for home use as a healthful substitute for commercial sugars.

Sunflower seed planted now will produce plants for poultry range shade and valuable seed heads for poultry and friendly bird feed over winter.

Sow dwarf Essex raps now for extra emergency pasture when regular pastures begin to wane in late June and early July.

The same advice applies to Sudan grass for emergency grazing. Both should be grown with the idea of fencing the fields into three or four equal plots to permit rotation pasturing.

WITH ASSEMBLY

The Emmitsburg Vacation Bible school, which has been in session the past two weeks, will close this week with a promotion and special reward assembly and picnic Friday morning from 9 to 11:30 o'clock at the Lutheran parish house where the school is being held this year. There also will be a program given by the children of the school under the direction of the teachers and workers in the Lutheran parish hall on Sunday evening beginning at 7:30 o'clock. Rev. Philip Bower, director of the school, said he is greatly pleased with this year's school. Almost 75 per cent of the boys and girls will have a perfect attendance record and the children have been exceptionally good in their work and behavior, he said. The teachers and workers have been very loyal and are a capable group, he added.

In addition to the class work there has been a half-hour opening devotion each day and a half hour assembly sing. The music has been directed by Miss Sue Hays and Jasper Wantz, pianist. This week devotional leaders were: Marjorie Crist, Barbara Hays and Helen Bushman. Special music has been included each morning in the devotions. Sue Hays, Barbara Hays, Beulah Glass, Jean Troxell, Helen Bushman and Ruth Umble sang "Faith of Our Fathers" Monday. Carl Crist gave a piano solo and Thomas Bushman sang a solo Wednesday morning. Thomas Wilhite and Becky Hays sang a duet Tuesday. Rev. Edmund Welker told a story to the children on Thursday and Friday mornings of last week. At the assembly Friday morning special recognition for good work and attendance rewards will be given to the children and there will be games and refreshments for all. The parents and friends of the children are invited to attend. An interesting program which will be given entirely by the children has been arranged for Sunday evening in the Parish hall, 7:30 o'clock. This program is for the public and will include music, exhibition of work done and a short play by the older boys and girls.

The Entre Nous sewing club met Monday at the home of Mrs. William Nail with the following members: Mrs. R. M. Zacharias, Mrs. Scott Randolph, Mrs. George Eyster, Mrs. Joshua Weingert and Mrs. Edgar Rhodes.

Dr. and Mrs. Robert Hampson and children, Robert, Jr., and Becky are vacationing this week at Atlantic City where Dr. Hampson is also attending the meeting of the American Academy of Dental Medicine, of which he has recently been made a member. The Hampsons plan to be at the farm near Emmitsburg next week.

The Council of Elias Lutheran church held its June meeting at the Parish house Tuesday night with Philip Bower, pastor; Charles Sharer, Lloyd Dern, Harry Troxell, Clarence Hahn, Richard Taylor, Robert Taylor and Roscoe Shindledecker present. The council authorized the property committee to have charge of cleaning and revarnishing the floors and painting the wood trim of the entire Parish house. The pastor was also granted four weeks' vacation with two weeks in July and two weeks in August. There will be guest speakers for the services on July 8 and August 5. The council also voted to have Sunday school with no church service on July 15 and August 12. Robert Taylor and Harry Troxell were appointed ushers.

New Oleo Measure
Doomed To Defeat

Harrisburg, June 28 (P) — A new move to force a House vote on legislation permitting the sale of yellow oleomargarine in Pennsylvania was tagged with defeat today.

The move was attempted by Rep. Joseph P. Rigby (R-Allegheny).

Rigby offered a resolution to discharge the House Agriculture committee from further consideration of oleo bills. The move would have and Charles Sharer and Lloyd Dern, altar assistants for the Holy Communion, this Sunday morning at 10:15 o'clock.

A good attendance was present for both the children's and the chapel choir rehearsal of Elias Lutheran church Tuesday night, with Mrs. Reginald Zepp directing and Miss Ruth Shuff accompanist. Helen Bushman and Sue Hays are assisting with the children's choir.

The Mt. Tabor Park services,

Rocky Ridge, will open for the summer Sunday night at 8 o'clock. The program for the opening service will include a men's song service with selections by local and visiting groups. There will also be men's choruses, quartets, duets, vocal and piano solos. The two local pastors, Rev. E. Taylor and Rev. R. Poffenberger, will take part. Services will continue in the park each Sunday night during July and August.

154-39 vote in the House Tuesday night. An earlier attempt to pass the bill was defeated.

It provides that no child under 14 may carry a B-B gun unless an adult member of his family accompanies him. Children from 14 to 16 may carry a B-B gun if accompanied by any adult, not necessarily a member of the family.

When turned loose to feed at will, a horse will eat himself to death, while a mule will eat only his fill.

EmmitsburgPLAYGROUND TO OPEN JULY 9

The Emmitsburg playground will open Monday, July 9, and will be conducted this year by Mrs. Herbert Rohrbaugh. Mrs. Rohrbaugh is the former Miss Mary Hahn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hahn. The Emmitsburg Boy Scout troop has offered to clean up the children's playground for their use again this year.

The Emmitsburg Lions club met Monday night on the Lutheran church lawn with a picnic supper and outdoor meeting. The guests of the club were the boys of the Emmitsburg Scout troop and John Spangler, veterinarian, who is the present scoutmaster, and Henry Charlton, Baltimore, former scoutmaster. The Lions club sponsors the local Boy Scout troop and Dr. Spangler spoke briefly to the Lions club thanking them for sponsoring the troop and for entertaining him and the boys with the ham supper served before the meeting. The club decided to sponsor the local playground again this summer with Mrs. Herbert Rohrbaugh in charge and opening date to be Monday, July 9.

A motion to sponsor the annual Emmitsburg Horse show was passed and the show will be held on September 23, the date set by the Maryland Horse Show association. The location of the show will be changed this year and there are good prospects that the new location will be the Emmitt Garden field.

TORNADO HITS KANSAS; 3 DIE

Harrisburg, June 28 (AP)—A bill allowing local school boards to insure all employees against pupil injury claims through negligence is before the Senate.

The measure, offered by Sen. Paul L. Wagner (R-Schuylkill), would protect school employees against liability for damages sustained by pupils or others as a result of employee negligence.

Other new Senate bills would:

Require that elevators and material hoists used in building construction be safe and be operated by experienced elevator operators.

Credit new employers with funds paid for unemployment compensation under the administration of the management they have succeeded.

Permit fourth to eighth class counties to pay retirement benefits to a local needy crippled girl while home for the summer. It was reported that several pairs of glasses for school children were purchased by the club. It was announced that the new officers will be installed at the next regular meeting of the club, Monday, July 9.

sons and injuring an estimated 50. The winds, accompanied by a five-inch rain, leveled homes, uprooted trees and ripped down power and communication lines.

Rooms and corridors of Wakeeney's only hospital were jammed with the injured.

Wakeeney has a population of about 2,000 and is 25 miles northwest of Hays.

Ben J. Brungardt, the Hays city manager who was aiding in the rescue work, estimated a five or six block area was badly hit.

Blood Plasma

He said the Wakeeney hospital had adequate facilities for handling the injured but that a call had been sent out for more blood plasma.

The Hays National Guard unit and volunteers from nearby Hill

City assisted in rescue operations. Winds and heavy rain swept across a wide section of central and western Kansas last night and early today.

In Hays trees were uprooted and some buildings damaged. Winds up to 55 miles per hour were reported at Salina.

SAYS CONGRESS HAS MADE HASH OF LAWSMAKING

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, June 28 (AP) — This Congress—between sitting on its hands and conducting quizzes—has made hash of its regular job of lawmaking.

In this Senate has been worse than the House. The result: Such delay in vital legislation that the Senate, at least, must stay here all summer.

Since nothing can become law unless both Houses approve, it would have made no difference how fast the House alone worked. And the Senate has lagged behind the House, away behind.

Various suggestions have been made around Washington to explain the tardiness, such as these:

That President Truman, even though his Democrats are in a majority, has lost so much control over Congress he can't get the lawmakers to work with him; that some of the Republicans—and some Democrats, too—are so antagonistic to Mr. Truman that they've been lying back, doing nothing; and that some of the congressional committees, where the lawmaking starts, have been doing nothing.

But not the least of the reasons for the delay is this: The senators have turned into such a bunch of quizzmasters, they've let their regular lawmaking job slide.

Each year seems to bring its own a single one of the dozen big ap-sensation which then is expanded into an investigation, giving the senators—besides information—a chance to play politics and make the headlines.

Many Investigations

This year there was a deluge of investigations although the ones which got the most attention were these three:

1. The Kefauver crime quiz. It made headlines and TV for months and now—but without Kefauver—in a switch from gambling to narcotics it is back on TV again. (In fairness to the members of this committee, it must be said there are so few of them that their particular quiz couldn't slow up the whole Senate.)

2. The troops-for-Europe debate, which took up weeks of the Senate's time before it agreed with reservations that troops should be sent. This one is over.

3. The MacArthur inquiry, one of the most sensational quizzes in years. It took up eight weeks of time and involved 26 senators and over 2,000,000 words of testimony. This one is finally finished, too, so far as hearings go.

Votes No Money

The proof of Congress' tardiness shows up this week, since June 30—it's Saturday this year—is always an extremely important date.

That's because the government does its business on a fiscal year basis, with the year beginning each July 1 and ending the following June 30.

Before June 30 rolls around Congress is supposed to vote the money necessary to run the government for the fiscal year starting the next day, July 1.

This year Congress has not passed

BISHOP TALKS AT BLOOMSBURG

Bloomsburg, Pa., June 28 (AP) — Most Rev. George L. Leach, bishop of the Diocese of Harrisburg, says the "pattern of persecution of the Roman Catholic church is always there."

He told the 25th annual convention of the Harrisburg Diocesan Council of Catholic Women last night the attack "is aimed directly at the shepherds but it is intended for the whole of the flock." It should be met, he added, "with an instinctive sense of forgiveness and pity toward our enemy."

The council is composed of 84 councils in eight eastern Pennsylvania deaneries. Pauline W. Callahan of Steelton, elected last year as president for a two-year term, presided over the one-day session.

Directors at large elected today: Conewago Deanery—May Fromer; Harrisburg District—Mrs. Nelson Dunn; Lancaster Deanery—Gertrude Wright; Northern Deanery—Mrs. Arleigh Laudenlayer; Shamokin Deanery—Mrs. Frederick Simone; I.F.C.A., Lancaster—Mrs. E. START BOOM FOR MCKELDIN

Annapolis, Md., June 28 (AP)—Governor Theodore McKeldin hurried home from his Baltimore office Tuesday night so he wouldn't keep the several guests who said they were going to drop by waiting.

He stepped out of the car at the state mansion and hurried up the walk.

Then he looked up . . . and stopped short.

At the door was a costume elephant, convulsing with the mannerisms of two youngsters under its hide. Behind it was a sea of faces, all topped with beach hats bearing signs, "McKeldin for President."

Surprise Party
The surprise party had been planned by his friends with the assistance of Mrs. McKeldin.

It was the windup of a day that had seen an offer of support by Democratic Gov. Warren of Florida if he would run against Sen. O'Connor (D-Md.) next year. Warren and O'Connor, chairman of the Senate Crime committee, are at bitter odds presently over reported crime conditions in Florida.

McKeldin thanked his Florida colleague, but said he wasn't considering any other jobs; he was too busy being governor, said McKeldin, who was elected to his first term last November.

Then this . . . "McKeldin for President."

He couldn't completely hide his feelings. It did look pretty good in print.

Black Friday, September 26, 1869, was the day of financial panic in Wall Street.

LEGISLATURE FACES LONGEST MEET IN YEARS

Harrisburg, June 28 (AP) — Pennsylvania's taxlocked General Assembly was on the road today toward becoming the longest session in 109 years.

The lawmakers started a 12-day vacation until July 9 with still no end in sight to their prolonged stalemate over the question of new taxes.

The deadlock is centered in the Senate where the Republican majority is widely split over Gov. John S. Fine's proposed state income tax.

An eight-member compromise committee of Senate Republicans made another try late yesterday at reaching an agreement but was unsuccessful.

"We are still in the discussion stage," said Sen. A. Evans Kephart (R-Phila.) after the meeting. Kephart said the eight probably would meet again next week, but added no date has been fixed.

Tax Issued Stymied

The committee met with Fine at the conclusion of its regular meeting yesterday, but Kephart said the meeting was merely to inform the governor of developments. The committee consists of four administration supporters and four income tax opponents.

The tax situation has been at a standstill since April when the House passed Fine's one-half of one per cent income tax only to have seven GOP senators refuse to support it. That opposition, together with a solid bloc of 29 Democratic senators, was enough to defeat the measure if it had been allowed to come up for a vote.

The Republican split over the tax question raised speculation yesterday that the 1951 Legislature may continue in session most of the summer. The last longest session was in 1942 when the session ended July 15.

Prior to that time, the longest continuous session was in 1842 when the session ended July 26. The present session is almost certain to continue through most of July.

In another development yesterday, Fine proposed a 10 per cent cost-of-living salary increase for Pennsylvania's 50,000 state employees.

Simultaneously, the General Assembly handed the governor its idea of a raise for its own members—a $50 monthly increase in expense allowance for 208 representatives and 50 senators. The House passed finally a bill boosting legislators' expense allowances from $1,200 to $1,800 a year. The vote was 189-15.

The governor estimated the state employees' salary boost would cost $9,000,000 in the 1951-53 biennium. A $600 annual increase for 258 legislators would amount to $308,600 in the same two-year period.

The committee met with Fine at the conclusion of its regular meeting yesterday, but Kephart said the meeting was merely to inform the

CRIME PROBERS OPEN READING HEARING TODAY

Washington, June 28 (AP) — Senate crime investigators turned aside from their narcotics probe today to try to show how interstate racketeers fasten their tentacles on the nation's smaller cities.

Chairman O'Connor (D-Md.) told reporters in advance of the hearing it would serve as "a sample of how interstate crime operations are carried on in some of the nation's smaller cities."

Reach Small Areas

"We think the pattern is much the same as we found it in the large metropolitan areas previously investigated," he said.

The committee, he added, wants to dispel the impression some people seem to have "that these interstate operations do not reach into the smaller cities."

Committee spokesman said ... altogether about a dozen witnesses probably would testify.

In contrast to the bright lights that beat down during the two days the committee took testimony about the nation's drug traffic, no plans were made to televised the hearing about underworld activities in Reading.

Testimony about narcotics, ranging from the woeful tales of addicts to revelations about the undercover operations of government agents, came to a temporary halt late yesterday.

But the committee made plain it will press ahead with its dope investigation and that it plans more hearings in the future.
